STRAUS GIVES HAWAII FIGURES

SAN FRANCISCO, August 9.—After having enjoyed a little recreation yesterday, motoring through Marin county, Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, returned to the Fairmont late last night, and prepared to depart for Washington this morning.

"There is one thing," said Secretary Straus, "that the general public does not know, and that is that our immigration and emigration records show that for every one hundred immigrants we receive into the United States each year we lose forty residents who leave our country to return to foreign lands.
The immigration to this country is now more than 1,000,000 a year. The net gain in population through this immigration is only about 60 per cent. of the number that comes.

"As regards the Hawaiian Islands, there are about 65,000 Japanese, about 9,000 Chinese, about 30,000 Hawaiians, about 8,000 part Hawaiians, about 200 negroes, about 500 South Sea Islanders, about 19,000 Portuguese and about 10,000 other white people.

"According to the official census of 1900, the islands had 25,761 Chinese, but now there are only about 9,000. The Japanese population during the seven years since the census report has not increased so much as supposed. There are not over 65,000 Japanese in Hawaii."

Reports from the immigration office at Washington amplify the Secretary's remarks, and go more into details. A dispatch from the capital presents them thus:

From a total Asiatic population of less than 6,000 in 1878, forming only 10.2 per cent of the population of the islands, the number of Asiatics increased to 18,000 in 1884, and formed over 22 per cent of the population. By 1890 the foreign-born Asiatics had increased to 27,000, and constituted over 30 per cent of the population. During the next six years their numbers had increased to over 41,000, and they formed over 38 per cent of the population. In June, 1900, the month in which the organic act creating the Territory of Hawaii went into effect, the number of foreign-born Asiatics had increased to over 77,000, and formed more than 50 per cent of the entire population. It is now over 100,000.

The preponderance of Asiatics is even more marked in official figures showing sex. Out of 106,369 males, the native and foreign born Asiatic element taken together, represents 69,804, or 65.6 per cent of the total male population. In 1900, The Asiatic preponderance in the population of Hawaii appears still more significantly alone.

In 1900 the total male population 18 years of age or over was 85,136, of which the Chinese and Japanese made up 63,444 or 74.52 per cent of the total.
This abnormally large proportion of Asiatic nationalities among the adult male population has been due to the fact that Asiatics have been brought over as laborers and that able-bodied men have consequently, until very recently, formed almost the entire body of immigrants, the immigration of women and children having been discourage.

The total increase in the Caucasian population through immigration since 1900 has been comparatively small at the best, but the arrivals have to a considerable extent been offset by the steady departure of whites which has been going on since the cessation of the excitement attending annexation.
The principal movement of immigration and emigration has been among the Asiatic elements. The figures of the Bureau of Immigration show that from July 1, 1900, until December 31, 1906, 48,036 Chinese, Japanese and Koreans arrived in Hawaii, while 38,029 of them were Japanese.

A great many of these Japanese have come to the Pacific Coast of the United States. The government has no figures showing how many of these entered the United States, but its combined total of departures from Hawaii show that during that same period 42,313 Japanese left Hawaii for Oriental and this coast.

The figures of the Bureau of Immigration for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1907, show that during the twelve months ending on that day 25,862 Japanese entered the United States and Hawaii. The exact number that came to the United States and the exact number that entered Hawaii cannot yet be obtained, but the total for both Hawaii and the United States is 25,862 for the year. This was an increase of nearly 50 per cent in Japanese immigration over the fiscal year of 1906.
The total Japanese immigration into the United States and Hawaii in 1906 was 14,243, and the increase of 1907 over 1906 was 11,619.

Japanese immigration into the United States by months during the fiscal year just closed was as follows: July (1906) 1643; August 2037; September 1794; October, 684; November, 1490; December, 3904; January (1907), 911; February, in 1907, March, 3400; April, 2123; May, 2263; and June, 2224.

THE TEDDY BEAR AND THE BREAKFAST FOOD TREE

GREAT EXCITEMENT NEAR THE HOME OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT AT OYSTER BAY—THE PRESIDENT SLEEPS CALMLY ON, BUT SECRET SERVICE MEN AND NATURE STUDENTS ARE ALL IN AN UPROAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Teddy bear with red eyes and white teeth that tried to enter the President's sleeping room Sunday night and hug him to death is still at large in the dense Oyster Bay forests surrounding Sagamore Hill. Secret Service agents, armed to the eyeglasses, smoked cigarettes and kept a ceaseless vigil around the Roosevelt house all last night, but the Teddy bear was not seen.

Frequent angry growls in the underbrush near at hand told, however, that the monster was prowling in the darkness seeking to get at the Chief Executive of the nation. Oyster Bay is in the throes of excitement. Little children are no longer allowed to go from the woods and pick mushrooms from the breakfast food trees which were discovered by John Burroughs, the naturalist, upon his recent investigating trip as the President's guests.

All sorts of wild conjectures have been ventured concerning how the terrible Teddy bear came to be in the neighborhood of Oyster Bay at this particular time. To an Evening World special Teddy bear commissioner he said today:

"Of course, I have no opinion to offer and it would not be right for me to suggest anything, but I think that animal was turned loose in the woods by the Standard Oil Company. Everybody knows how Rockefeller hates the President. He would do anything to embarrass the administration.

"You may say to the public, however—only don't let it come from me—that the President is not alarmed in the least. His appetite remains unimpaired. He sleeps the sleep of the just. A man who has faced mountain lions and bob cats in their native fastnesses feels no fear over the threats of a Teddy bear."

Special guards were provided today for Secretary of War Taft, Secretary of State Root and Postmaster General Meyer on their trip from Oyster Bay railroad station to Sagamore Hill to see the President. It is reported that a hunting party will be organized to go after the Teddy bear if a suit of hunting clothes can be found to fit Secretary Taft.

Secretary Loeb, it is stated on good authority that nothing but the telegraphers' strike has kept the President from sending up to Maine for his favorite guide, Seth Bullock. In the course of his career in the wilderness Mr. Bullock has trailed everything on four feet that wears fur. Even a Teddy bear, cunning as it is in seeking hiding places, would have no terrors for Seth Bullock.

Secret Service Men Sauter and Ritchie, of the President's entourage, are the only men who have actually seen the Teddy bear that is besieging Saga-more Hill. Following the White House rule that no one may speak but the President, Mr. Ritchie and Mr. Sauter refused to discuss the matter when seen at the cafe near the Oyster Bay Post Office today.

"It certainly was as fearsome a Teddy bear as I ever saw," said Mr. Ritchie. "If I did not know, from careful perusal of the President's works on natural history, that bears are not spotted, I would say that this bear was polka-dotted. However, Mr. Sauter informs me that my eyes deceived me."

"That's right," said Mr. Sauter, cautiously. "You know we have to be careful. I wouldn't be sure about the polka dots, but I'm a liar if that bear didn't have a belt and holster on and a revolver stuck in the holster."

"I thought so, too," agreed Mr. Ritchie. "Of course, it was dark and we couldn't swear to it, but if that bear didn't have a sombrero on it had on something that looked like a sombrero.
It had eyes like a couple of tall lights on an automobile. Outside of Mr.
Roosevelt, I never saw such a set of white, threatening pickets in a face."

Mr. Ritchie and Mrs. Sauter bought additional ammunition and went back to Sagamore Hill. They will make a thorough canvass of the woods this afternoon, and if the Teddy Bear is not rounded up before night they will build huge bonfires in a circle around President Roosevelt's house.

EZRA FROM PUYALLUP

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Automobiles on the old Albany post road have been treated in the last few days to the sight of a genuine prairie schooner drawn by a yoke of oxen. The outfit is that of Ezra Meeker, of Puyallup, Wash., near Tacoma, who started on Jan. 29, 1906 to retrace his journey of fifty-four years before along the old Oregon trail to its eastern terminus on the Missouri river, thence across Iowa and Illinois to his Indian home.

Meeker reached Indianapolis on June 5, 1907, a distance of 2,630 miles. As he traveled he interested the people on the route in preserving the old trail, and by their help erected numerous stones, posts and monuments as guides to the trail.

From Indianapolis he was tracked along by way of Cleveland, Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany, and thence down the old post road, stopping at the various towns along the river. He is bound for Oyster Bay to see the president, and later to Washington to try to interest the government in transforming the old trail into a good roadway.

QUARANTINES BOTH WAYS NOW

SAN FRANCISCO'S PLAGUE CASES RESULTS IN AN ORDER TO HO-NOLULU TO QUARANTINE.

Dr. Carl Ramus, acting chief of the local Federal Quarantine service, yesterday received cabled instructions from Washington to enforce quarantine here against all ships from San Francisco on account of bubonic plague in that city. The quarantine goes into effect at once and all vessels from San Francisco will be treated here as are treated vessels arriving from the Orient, their passengers being carefully examined and, unless such ships come with certificates of health issued by the San Francisco health authorities, showing that they have been fumigat-ed and in quarantine on the coast, they will be quarantined and fumigat-ed here before being granted partique.

San Francisco has, without just cause been quarantining against Honolulu and now Honolulu put on the quarantine against San Francisco. At both ends of the line, therefore, vessels will be guarded against people from ashore going aboard and from members of the crews unnecessarily coming ashore.

Plague conditions in San Francisco are serious; there they say that the disease was brought in by ships from another Pacific Coast port.

The S. S. Asia, due this afternoon from San Francisco, and the S. S.
Hilonian, due on Thursday from San Francisco, having left San Francisco before the new orders from Washington went into effect, will be ordered into quarantine on arrival here and treated as was the O. S. S. Sierra when she arrived Friday evening last with a case of plague.

One of the steerage passengers of the O. S. S. Sierra was allowed to land Friday night last. The passenger thus favored was Archibald Sinclair, father of Dr. Sinclair of this city. The doctor, who is an officer of the quarantine service, was permitted by his chief, Dr.
Ramus, to bring his father ashore on the understanding that he take his temperature every day and keep him in strict individual quarantine for seven days. There is a rule allowing persons who can be thus quarantined ashore to land and Sinclair availed himself of it.

A SHILLING SAVED REPRESENTS TEN EARNED.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine shillings in living expenses for every one saved. Sometimes a few pence properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several times the amount later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but little and a bottle of it in the house often saves a large doctor's bill.
